INDEX TO VOLUME 51

Admixture, European, possible effect on response of Algonkian Indians to cold 255–78
Adopted children, resemblance of, to adoptive "parents" 565–87
Aging, biology of, 239–40
Aldridge, N., Ancestral relationships within and between districts in the region of Reading, England, as estimated by isonymy 445–60
Alexander, F., Heights and weights of Hungarian and Belgian asthmatic boys 507–21
Alkaline phosphatase, placental: genetically determined rare variants of, 341–52; in a Sudanese population 335–9
Altitude, high, human biology at, 242–3
Ancestral relationships within and between districts in the region of Reading, England 445–60
Arm circumference in preschool children 11–21
Ashizawa, Kumi, Secular trend in growth in infants with Down's syndrome 289–97
Ashthmatic boys, heights and weights of, in Hungary and Belgium 507–21
Austin, Donald M., Work capacity and body morphology of Bantu and Pygmoid groups of Western Zaire 79–89
Azama, Mark, Work capacity and body morphology of Bantu and Pygmoid groups of Western Zaire 79–89

Bailey, Stephen M., Living together as a factor in family-line resemblances 565–87; Socioeconomic interactions with physique and fertility 317–33
Baker, P. T., Biocultural correlates to the blood pressure of Samoan migrants in Hawaii 481–97; Effects of modernization and migration on Samoan blood pressures 461–79

Baughan, Brian, Skeletal maturity standards for French-Canadian children 353–70
Benfante, R. J. HL-A antigens in the Chamorros of the Mariana Islands 201–12
Behnke, Albert R., Estimation of body fat from skinfolds and surface area 411–24
Birth, season of, and stature, body mass, and performance 299–316
Blood pressure of Samoans: effect of modernization and migration on, 461–79; biocultural correlates of, in Hawaii 481–97
Bloom, David E., A model distribution of height or weight at a given age 523–36
Body measurements of Bantu and Pygmoid groups of Zaire 79–89
Body size and form of Black and White male youths 187–200
Body volume in females 499–505
Book Notices, 107–8, 253–4, 443–4, 609–10
